

You can tell your story in the way you really want to live it now.

The journey you are undertaking is essentially a journey of words, the words you use for thoughts, feelings, hopes and dreams. Whether you are to be the hero of your journey or assign that role to others is based on the words you use in telling your story.

Emotions are generated within the roles of the Drama and Cognitive Triangles. It is never too late to have a happy childhood. Start today...

This workshop will be held in St. Joseph, Michigan and is designed to facilitate your unraveling the beliefs that have prevented your feeling fully awake and joyful and to help you claim your rightful affiliation with the Divine, what nineteenth-century poet William Blake described as seeing a World in a grain of sand, holding infinity in the palm of your hand, and experiencing eternity in an hour. For more information about rising above the Drama Triangle and becoming transrational, see www.scs-matters.com/Download/dramatriangle.pdf
